20 (a) FINDINGS.—Based on information obtained from 21 the April 2009 report from the Office of the Inspector
22 General of the Department of State and the Broadcasting
23 Board of Governors, entitled “Review of Locally Employed
24 Staff Compensation Issues” (Report Number ISP–I–09– 25 44), Congress makes the following findings:

1           (1) U.S. embassies and consulates worldwide
2           retain over 51,000 locally employed (LE) staff under 3           local compensation plans (LCPs) in about 170 over-
4           seas missions. A report by the Office of the Inspec-
5           tor General of the Department of State and the 6           Broadcasting Board of Governors, entitled “Review
7           of Locally Employed Staff Compensation Issues” 8           (Report Number ISP–I–09–44), stated that: “The 9           U.S. is falling behind in providing a competitive
10          compensation package for LE staff that is commen-
11          surate with their experience, technical skills, and re-12          sponsibilities”.

13          (2) The ability of United States overseas mis-
14          sions to retain LE staff and to recruit new, qualified 15          staff is vital to the success of those missions.

16          (3) To addresses differences in the skill levels
17          required for different categories of LE staff posi-
18          tions, the Inspector General’s report recommended 19          that “separate data and separate scales should be 20          established for certain types of employees”.

21          (4) The current LE staff compensation review
22          process requires improvement, including increasing 23          transparency and interagency involvement, reducing 24          disparities between the salary and budget cycles, and

1 improving the use of outmoded and cumbersome
2 communication technology.

5           tion for such staff, as recommended by the Office of 6           Inspector General in a April 2009 report entitled 7           “Review of Locally Employed Staff Compensation
8           Issues” (Report Number ISP–I–09–44).

9           (3) PAY SCALES FOR LOCALLY EMPLOYED PRO-
10          FESSIONALS.—The review under paragraph (1)(A)
11          shall include a summary of efforts to address pay
12          scales for locally employed staff to ensure adequate 13          compensation for professional level positions, such as 14          medical officers, laboratory management, public

18          actment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall consult
